The Rosenberg Pathways to Peace Award

The Global Education Office would like to invite SUNY Plattsburgh students to apply for a generous scholarship for participation in SUNY Plattsburgh faculty-led programs. The Pathways to Peace awards are made possible by the generous contributions of Mr. James N. Rosenberg who endeavored to foster international understanding and peace among young people. These awards honor his legacy as well as the extraordinary work of our globally minded faculty. Only SUNY Plattsburgh students accepted to a SUNY Plattsburgh faculty-led program are eligible to receive these awards.

Award Details:
- $500 awards to be applied to recipients’ study abroad expenses.
- Awards will be given to one SUNY Plattsburgh student on each of the short-term programs being led by Plattsburgh faculty.
- Scholarship recipients will be chosen by the Rosenberg Scholarship Committee based on essay quality, academic merit, and financial need, if applicable.
- Applicants must write a personal statement explaining how their participation in these programs would further Mr. Rosenberg’s mission to support international understanding and peace.

Eligibility Requirements:
- Fully matriculated SUNY Plattsburgh students accepted on a SUNY Plattsburgh faculty-led program.
- Fully completed short-term study abroad application (with $100 application fee) and scholarship application.

The award recipient must be prepared to pay the following:
- Regular SUNY tuition (resident or non-resident)
- Study abroad program fees (based on program of choice)
- Miscellaneous related expenses (books, university fees, local transportation, visa expenses, etc.)

Please review the study abroad budget estimate for your program and contact the SUNY Plattsburgh Global Education Office for more information on program costs.

Upon returning from the study abroad program, recipients must submit a report on study abroad experiences to be shared with the campus community. Recipients will also be expected to assist with the promotion of study abroad programs during the semester they return. This may include tabling at study abroad fairs, giving classroom testimonials, speaking to interested students, and providing content for blogs, Facebook, etc.

How to apply (see page 2):
Submit the Rosenberg Pathways to Peace application with the application for the faculty-led program in which you would like to participate. Please see program information for deadlines.
The Rosenberg Pathways to Peace Award

Application Cover Sheet

Name: ________________________________________________  Date: _____________

Banner ID: __________________________________

Please initial the following:

_____ I have completed a study abroad application.

_____ I have read and understand The Rosenberg Pathways to Peace Award application instructions.

_____ I give permission for the Global Education Office and the Rosenberg Scholarship Committee to access my academic and financial records.

_____ I have attached typed responses to the items below:

- 500 word essay/personal statement including
  - Your ideas for using your study abroad experience to promote international understanding and peace
  - Why you feel that you will represent SUNY Plattsburgh well overseas
  - How you will assist with the promotion of international education upon your return to campus
  - Significant contributions you have made to SUNY Plattsburgh
  - Any other information which you feel should be considered by the scholarship committee (academic merit, financial need, etc.)

- List the contact information for three faculty members whom you feel know you well enough to serve as references as necessary. Two of them may be the same references you used on your study abroad application.

Notes:

- Return completed application materials to the Global Education Office - Kehoe 210
- Late/incomplete applications will not be considered.
- Scholarship recipients will be notified in November for winter and spring programs and April for summer and fall programs.
- Awards must be returned in full if recipients do not complete their study abroad programs.
- Email or visit the Global Education Office for more information - geo@plattsburgh.edu

Office use only:
Date: ____________    Staff: _______

Notes:
__________________________________________________________________________________________
__________________________________________________________________________________________